News story #1 Two men arrested after 'road rage' attack (0:14)

Setting the Scene

Driving a car can be stressful. In Canada, there are a lot of traffic rules to keep people safe. However, driving can still be dangerous. Big cities have traffic jams, especially before and after working hours. Snow, rain and ice can make driving difficult. Some drivers use their phones, and don't drive carefully. 'Road rage' is a feeling of anger that people get when they drive. It's usually caused by another driver who is being unsafe.

Pre-listening Questions

Do you drive in Canada? Is it easier or more difficult than in your home country?

Are Canadian traffic laws easy to understand?

Have you ever felt road rage? What happened?

Transcripts of Weekly news stories

	DECEMBER WEEKLY NEWS STORIES	TIME
Introduction	Hi, I'm Shannon Scott and this is Learning English with the CBC for December 19 th , with stories that made news over the past week.	0:00
Story 1	Two men are facing charges after an apparent road rage incident in southeast Calgary. Police say the driver of a van was forced off the road, then pulled out of the vehicle and assaulted. They say people in the area stepped in to help along with paramedics who were nearby. The two men took off. Police were able to track them down and arrest them. One man is charged with assault and the other with dangerous driving and assault. This is the second road rage attack in the city recently. In the first incident, Karalie Red Old Man was driving with her daughter on Dec. 7th when she said a BMW followed her to an arena parking lot after tailgating and rear-ending her. She says at the arena, the two men got out of the car and assaulted her. No one has been arrested in the second attack. Police say if you are threatened by another driver, you should try to ignore them. They say you should call 911 if you feel unsafe, and drive to a well-lit area with people.	0:14
Story 2	A task force set up by the federal government has released a report with more than 80 recommendations about the legalization of marijuana. The Liberals have promised to introduce new laws in the spring that would make marijuana legal in Canada. The task force says pot should be limited to people at least 18 years or older, people should only be allowed to have 30 grams at a time, and pot should not be sold at stores that sell alcohol or tobacco. The report also suggests there be a limit on people growing their own plants. The Canadian Medical Association had recommended pot be limited to people over the age of 21, but it also wants to see strict limits on how much and how strong the drug could be for anyone under the age of 25.	1:49
Story 3	And a warning for anyone visiting Peter Lougheed Provincial Park. Alberta Parks says there have been reports of moose coming into parking lots and licking the salt off of vehicles. Salt is used on roads to melt snow and ice. The government says the best way to try and scare a salt-licking moose away is to honk your horn. Do not try to push the moose away.	3:04
